2012 Permaculture Design Course – Students' testimonials:

What was your overall satisfaction level with the Permaculture Design course at True Nature Farm?

- "I didn't know a thing about Permaculture coming into the course. Not only did I walk away with so much knowledge, but I feel so encouraged that I (and everyone I shared this experience with) have the capabilities to make real (positive) change in this world."
- "The best well-rounded education I have received up to this point in my life. Enriched my philosophy of living and gave me a solid foundation of knowledge to spring forth from."
- "Excellent instructors, location was ideal, food was wonderful, all of the people involved were inspiring."
- "True Nature Farm is a great learning environment, it has a lot to offer."

Did the course's content meet your expectations?

- "The course material was fantastic and I enjoyed the way the class flowed. It was a give and take, we got out of the class what we put in. Some of the high points were the land, camping sites, the people, all of the great food."
- "High point was the inspiring content and learning with like-minded people. Low point was that it had to end!"
- "High points: the instructor; Warren Brush, the farm and the people that make up the community there were so welcoming and we instantly felt like family; the other students taking the course, the meals were nourishing and delicious, the town of Boulder itself was such a beautiful model of a modern day village; I also enjoyed the classroom setting under the oak trees."
- "I cannot say enough about the meals that were provided to us, they were nutritious and delicious. I am missing the food that I was provided."
- "Brilliant, inspiring, nurturing--content was presented clearly and with purpose."
